WHY ARE NATURAL FANCY COLORED DIAMONDS AND PRECIOUS COLORED GEMSTONES A PRUDENT INVESTMENT?

+ Supply & Demand

The demand for Rare Fancy Colored Diamonds and Colored Gemstones has increased dramatically over the last 10 years while supply is increasingly limited.

+ Performance

The simple truth is prices historically have seen a steady increase in the value of colored diamonds and gemstones on average 20% per year. With demand continuing to grow and supply becoming very scarce, experts predict prices will significantly outperform the historical averages over the next 5 years.

+ Portability

Natural Colored Diamonds are known to be the most concentrated form of wealth in the world. You can literally hold millions of dollars of wealth in the palm of your hand. In times of economic instability and social unrest, colored diamonds have provided investors with protections in preserving their wealth.

+ Privacy

As a non-reporting asset, records of Colored Diamond and Colored Gemstone ownership are private. Most collectors store these assets in safe deposit boxes where they are discreetly appreciating in value.

WHY ARE NATURAL FANCY COLORED DIAMONDS A GOOD INVESTMENT?

Forbes

"In times of uncertainty, diamonds hold their value better than real estate and have the advantage of being portable!"

"Fancy Colored Diamonds are the world's most concentrated form of wealth! A Multimillion Dollar portfolio easily fits into an envelope ... most countries, including the United States, do not require that ownership of Colored Diamonds be reported to any government authority."

The Sovereign Society

WATERFORD IRELAND

"According to the Gemological Institute of America, demand for Colored Diamonds has been unprecedented. Even if you can afford a Pink Diamond you may have to wait. Even the Argyle Mine which provides 95% of these Colored Diamonds (Pinks) doesn't have many of them."

TANGIBLE ASSETS IN AN INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO

In today's uncertain economies many investors are moving towards more tangible assets such as gold, silver and colored diamonds, to preserve their wealth. Most financial advisors will recommend that investors have at least 15% of their assets in tangible assets as a hedge against inflation and economic uncertainty; today perhaps even more.

The stability and long-term appreciation of Colored Diamonds and Colored Gemstones classifies them as one of the most desirable tangible assets.

There is no paper currency that has held even half of its buying power over the last half century.

Colored Diamonds and Colored Gemstones have seen 3 recessions over the years and have held their value during these periods.

Colored Diamond prices have doubled at the dealer level on average every 5 years.

A SAFE INVESTMENT?

Over the past 10 years there has emerged a new generation of investors in Natural Fancy Colored Diamonds who identify and covet the true upside potential of possessing something of value that has not been matched by anything else in the world.

Given the “top-rated” status of Colored Diamonds for the past 10 years, plus the fact that there is a soaring demand for, and an increasingly limited supply of colored diamonds, this tangible asset is almost certainly one of the safest places for your money, as history has proven.

As both economic and financial volatility continues to erode individuals assets more investors worldwide are turning to the safety of Colored Diamonds for protection. The increase in demand is pushing prices for Colored Diamonds to heights never seen before.
